

Safety Plan

Safety After Abuser Is Released From Custody

- I will stay notified about my abusers incarceration status
- I will sign up for alerts with the Victim Information and Notification Everyday (VINE) system
  - This will let me receive alerts about my abusers court dates and release dates.
- I understand that my abuser could end up on either probation or parole.
  - Probation is monitoring that occurs as part of the initial sentencing process after a guilty plea or conviction.
  - Parole occurs when an abuser is sentenced to incarceration for committing the crime and then is released from prison early.
- I understand that my abuser will likely be assigned a probation or parole officer upon release
- I can contact their probation or parole officer if my abuser violates any of their conditions.
  - My abusers probation/parole officer's name is:
